Gorgeous Women. With Guns.

You probably have some nice custom art on your walls from several of your artists. I'm sure you have plenty of flash up as well. How would you like to add a touch of class to those walls, but still keep that edgy look to your parlor? Outlaw Posters Ink has that need covered with their high-quality pictures and posters of beautiful, naked, tattooed and pierced women. Done tastefully, of course.

"We pretty much are what we are," explains Michael Polemi, owner of Outlaw Posters Ink. Formed in January of this year, Outlaw Posters Ink uses the camera talents of Sean Hartgrove, an amazing photographer who I'm sure many of you are familiar with, to craft these images.

These pictures aren't just your typical T & A, though. Sean's eye combined with the models' sexy, edgy appearance make for a great picture. Add that to the fact that several of them are holding some type of firearm, weapon, or posing next to a chopper, and you have original pieces of art that will complement any shop's décor.

Composing of three people – Michael, his wife Jerri, and Sean Hartgrove – along with the help of others along the way like Mr. Scary of That Scary Place and Sean Dowdell from Club Tattoo, Outlaw Posters Ink has celebrated amazing success their first year. "It's a family thing right now," explains Michael, who works with his wife and Sean to ensure they look over nearly every stage of production with a close eye to detail. Some of the models you may recognize, such as the alluring Meiko, the hardcore Amy Grenade, Aphobia, Amy Fairy, and two gorgeous twins, Eileen and Bernadette.

Recently, the three traveled to Phoenix and met up with Sean Dowdell of Club Tattoo to do a piercing shoot there with some of his models and Mr. Hartgrove's camera. They're really excited about the results. Check out the website to see some of the pictures.

With retail and wholesale capabilities, Outlaw Posters Ink offers products not only for your store, but also for your own home as well. You can purchase posters, all on high-quality paper, along with photographic prints, greeting cards, and postcards, perfect sidebars for next to the register.
